Dear Jeff;

Alicia Jordan and I wanted to write and thank you so much for your presentation "The Sixty Second Procrastinator: Time Management for College Students." I really appreciated your insight on time management and have already attempted to keep my desk clear and carefully guard what comes across it as you suggested.

I also wanted to thank you for the idea you shared about getting over writer's block, as I have been struggling with an article I am working on.

To say your presentation was insightful is an understatement. I feel energized and ready to tackle my daily challenges in campus activities.

Sincere thanks,

Rick Gardner
