Dear Jeff Davidson,

You've ruined my life! After attending your workshop and printing your article, I'm tossing out all kinds of things. I actually have closet and drawer space as well as room in my desks. My garbage men are walking around with a limp from carrying out all my "stuff." Seriously, I've been looking at my things a lot differently. They now have to be worth the space they occupy, or they get relocated.

I believe many of our readers will have a similar experience after reading your article in our publication. Please accept these complementary copies. If you'd like more, give me a call. Our telephone number is 1/800-234-4724, ex. 23.

I'd like to run some of the other articles that you have on your disk that you sent me. When I do, I'll send you copies again.

Cordially,

Rachel M. King
Director, Corp. Communications

PS: Have a wonderful, safe holiday and the best ever New Year.
