Dear Jeff:

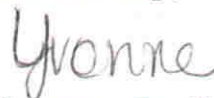

What a pleasure it was to have you speak to our group! I must say that you touched on several items that are issues in my life, and have forced me to make a few choices that I was trying to ignore. Thanks to you, I can make those choices and keep a positive attitude at the same time.

In addition, your organizational skills are a great tip for other people. As soon as I return home, I will take the extra time to tackle those things that I've been neglecting in order to have a more effective household. With a ten month old child there is hardly any time to organize a household.

At any rate, I wanted to give you some genuine feedback on your conference. You were an inspiration to many who may not take the time to confer with you. Several employees have shared their positive feedback with me concerning your presentation.

Thank you for your time and motivation!

Sincerely,

Yvonne Faulk
