Good Day Mr. Davidson:

I find I have a breathing space and debated with myself, ever so briefly, if I should fill the time by jotting off a note to you.

For how ever long it lasts the effect of your seminar has had a beneficial effect on our office. I have, for the first time, noted two of my associates, who like myself were in attendance at your presentation, now maintain a clear, clean orderly desk.

Your subject, delivered with a flair for the dramatic was provocative and a highlight of the convention.

Thank you for re/introducing into my life the need to think more about the part of our lives that are controllable.

Very truly yours,
