Dear Jeff:

Thank you for sending Bob Bergland the results of your survey on "Breathing Space in Your Life," which you conducted at this year's Cooperative Executive Secretary's Conference. He passed it to me. It was interesting to note the increasing time pressure felt by the secretaries. I share your concern that this may lead to serious problems with their health and well-being.

Jane Hoge -- our conference administrator -- tells me that you and she discussed these findings and shared some ideas about their causes. She also mentioned that you received high marks from the participants for your three presentations at the conference. I know that you have written some thought-provoking articles for our publication Management Quarterly.

We appreciate the good work you do for us. Have a happy and healthy holiday season.

Sincerely,
