Dear Jeff,

Your presentation to our Chapter last week contained one of the most timely and thought-provoking messages ever. I personally was rejuvenated on keeping a clear and "sane" work and living space which will assist me in writing my first book and in my business overall.

I also heard several other people comment on the power of your presentation and what it meant to them so I trust you will be hearing from them, and others via referral, as well. You'll probably be asked to address many more organizations in the future which should give people insight on living a better, more productive life. You're certainly on my "recommended list"!

Again, thank you,

KEEP SPREADING YOUR WORDS, JEFF
