Dear Jeff:

Contratulations on an excellent presentation at last week's meeting of The National Council of Career Women. Your talk was statistically impressive, it was most entertaining and the guidelines for reducing the clutter in one's life should prove beneficial in creating more space in my life.

I wouldn't change a thing in the presentation and I hope that you will be afforded the opportunity to share your information and ideas with other groups like ours. I believe that you have an untapped audience nationwide.

Best wishes for your continued success.

Sincerely yours,
