I was present when you spoke to Catholic Health East at the Villanova Conference Center last month. I actually enjoyed your presentation. It was very clever and made you think. I sometimes thought I was the only one who was inundated with tons of information I did not want or need. I refuse to have a computer in my house because that is my sanctuary. I especially enjoyed the part regarding multitasking...something that you are against (me and a million others also) but CHE has been shoving it down our throats. I believe we have won.

I hope to hear you again. Kristen sent us your website and I have been reading the articles and completing the tests. Sometimes I impress myself ☺ I am looking forward to receiving a live recording from you.

Thanks for the knowledge and I loved it when you said it was okay to look out of the window.

Sincerely,

Mary H. Galloway
