Jeff:

I enjoyed your presentation at the Hardwood Manufacturers Association, and I have put some of your suggestions on flat surfaces and controlling what is allowed into my office to work. These simple practices have allowed me to relax and enjoy what I do. You were talking directly to me during your presentation, and my wife is very thankful that someone has made me realize that cluttering your life with confirming facts is not smart. She has been telling me for years about clutter, but she has never made an impact like you have in just a short time.

I look forward to receiving and using your cassette Breathing Space, and I plan on sharing your ideas and handouts with my friends and colleagues.

Sincerely,
