Presiding

David W. Benfer, FACHE
Chairman, Board of Governors
American College of Healthcare Executives

The American College of Healthcare Executives is an international professional society of nearly 30,000 healthcare executives. ACHE is known for its prestigious credentialing and educational programs and its annual Congress on Healthcare Management, which draws more than 4,000 participants each year. ACHE is also known for its journal, the Journal of Healthcare Management (formerly Hospital & Health Services Administration), and magazine, Healthcare Executive, as well as ground-breaking research and career development and public policy programs. ACHE's publishing division, Health Administration Press, is one of the largest publishers of books and journals on all aspects of health services management in addition to textbooks for use in college and university courses. Through such efforts, ACHE works toward its goal of improving the health status of society by advancing healthcare management excellence.

The 1998 Congress on Healthcare Management features a food donation program. All unserved food prepared for Congress breakfasts, luncheons, and receptions will be donated to the Greater Chicago Food Depository for distribution to local shelters for the homeless.
