Overcome Information Overload in the New Millennium

October 28, 1999 ~ 11:30 am - 1:15 pm

Scottsdale Marriott at McDowell Mountains, 16770 North Perimeter Drive

Featuring Jeff Davidson, MBA, CMC

Hailed as a "dynamo" by The Washington Post, Jeff Davidson is a leading authority on 21st century career and lifestyle strategies.

Too much paper, too much reading, too many Web sites — do these diminish your effectiveness? Learn how to win with information and not be deluged by it. Discover how to become your own information highway, use information for maximum gain, and keep stress at a manageable level so you can spend more time doing the things you enjoy. This program is for organizations whose managers and staff members face too much competing for their time and attention, and offers essential tools for continual improvement.

Tradeshow & Mixer

Network with 150 Exhibitors in a 33,000 Square Foot Venue

October 28, 1999 ~ 1:30 - 8:00 pm

Tom Chauncey's Arabian Horse Ranch
Special Events Facility, Scottsdale &
Mayo Roads

The biggest business event of the year in Scottsdale continues to grow and is even better this time around!

The business community has been extremely supportive, and the excitement generated from a new location and extended hours is sure to make the 1999 event one you won't want to miss. Up to 150 exhibitors, from accountants to hoteliers, from technical providers to communication professionals, will showcase their wares.

A Business After Hours mixer will be held simultaneously at the Showcase & Expo from 5:00-7:00 pm. Pinnacle Peak Patio will provide food and tastings from their microbrewery, Margarita Man/Pourmaster is hosting adult beverages. Look for some great door prizes, and another opportunity to network.

The Scottsdale Chamber of Commerce Showcase & Expo '99 promises to be an energetic event that effectively assists your business in creating year-round impact.

No RSVP necessary. Bring your business card for FREE entry.
