

Convention Schedule & Activities

Featured Speakers

On Monday, Steven Anderson, president of the Forest History Society, will provide a general overview of forestry from the late 1800s to the present. He will highlight important consulting forestry milestones, including information on early consultants and their accomplishments and contributions.

On Wednesday, John Beuter, president of Duck Creek Associates, will review the current economic, social and political situation and make projections for the next five to ten years on supply and demand, global competition, exports/imports, ownership patterns, landowner objectives and regulatory influences.

Finally, Jeff Davidson of Breathing Space Institute will discuss strategies and tactics for ACF members to promote their consulting practices locally. He is a business and marketing writer who has co-authored the successful books Marketing Your Consulting and Professional Services and Getting New Clients.
